

CITY'S CURRENT SOLID WASTE DATA

The City of Edgewood is a residential community, located in the heart of the Orlando urban area (about three miles south of downtown Orlando), along the shores of some of Central Florida's most beautiful lakes—Conway, Gatlin, Jennie Jewel, Jessamine and Mary. The City is primarily a residential neighborhood of the larger urban area. The neighborhood is home to 2,717 residents (2019 BEBR), and is characterized by features such as lakefront homes, homes set back from the road, and narrow streets graced with magnificent oak trees with lush tree canopies lending a quiet elegance to the area. Orange Avenue continues to be the main street, lined with more than 350 retail, commercial, and industrial businesses.

The City's current solid waste service has been provided by the same company since 2001. The current company provides service to 108 commercial accounts (as of 5/2020), and provides service to 831 homes consisting of 838 units. The fees for residential solid waste service are received through a non-ad valorem assessment.
